Master's Message

Brethren,
This year has crawled by like A very slow caterpillar. I look forward to the day when things emerge a new.

Masons come from all walks of life.
We are plumbers, professionals, salesmen and CEO's. We are fathers, Uncles and Sons.
We are also brothers.

When you become a Mason, you become part of a Brotherhood of Men committed to Family. Engaged in ongoing personal growth, and providing care for others and families in need.

While our backgrounds and interests may be diverse what binds us together are shared values and a desire to do good, to help those that we can and to strive to become better men.

I look forward to seeing all of you in Lodge This Month.

Sincerely,
Ed Sisk WM

Quotes of Famous Masons

Critics have their purposes, and they're supposed to do what they do, but sometimes they get a little carried away with what they think someone should have done, rather than concerning themselves with what they did.

Duke Ellington

I've always followed my father's advice: he told me, first to always keep my word and, second, to never insult anybody unintentionally. If I insult you, you can be... sure I intend to. And, third, he told me not to go around looking for trouble.

John Wayne

Masonic Secret

Those who become Freemasons only for the sake of finding out the secret of the order, run a very great risk of growing old under the trowel without ever realizing their purpose. Yet there is a secret, but it is so inviolable that it has never been confided or whispered to anyone. Those who stop at the outward crust of things imagine that the secret consists in words, in signs, or that the main point of it is to be found only in reaching the highest degree. This is a mistaken view: the man who guesses the secret of Freemasonry, and to know it you must guess it, reaches that point only through long attendance in the lodges, through deep thinking, comparison, and deduction. He would not trust that secret to his best friend in Freemasonry, because he is aware that if his friend has not found it out, he could not make any use of it after it had been whispered in his ear. No, he keeps his peace, and the secret remains a secret.

Giovanni Giacomo Casanova
